NIJC Pro Bono Case List: 57 cases need pro bono representation.

Immigrants do not have the right to appointed counsel and without pro bono representation, many of NIJC's clients would be forced to seek immigration relief on their own. NIJC pro bono attorneys defend the legal rights of immigrants, prevent permanent family separation and deportation to persecution and torture, and help ensure access to justice for all.

This case list is divided into sections based on the type of case. All cases that require priority placement are listed at the top of the list and organized by case type. When you select a case type, the headline will provide basic information about the case. Additional information is available in the drop-down options below the headline.

PLEASE NOTE: For asylum cases, this list includes cases that are scheduled for—or that we expect to receive—merits hearings within the next two years. Please note that the timeline for affirmative cases may be different. Not included on this list are numerous cases that are not yet scheduled for a hearing, and which could benefit from pro bono advocacy to secure a hearing date. If you are interested in working on a specific type of case that you do not see listed here, please email Lili Henkel (lhinkel@immigrantjustice.org) and Moisés López Soltero (mlopezsoltero@immigrantjustice.org), and we will explore whether we have a case available that may be a good fit.

- Asylum - Affirmative: Represent an individual or family who is affirmatively applying for asylum and will present their case before the Asylum Office.
- Asylum – Defensive: Represent an individual or family who is applying for asylum as a defense to removal and will present their case before the Immigration Court.
- Special Immigrant Juvenile Status (SIJS): Represent the guardian of an immigrant minor in state court proceedings to obtain a predicate order.
- U Visa: Represent an immigrant survivor of a crime committed in the United States.
- VAWA: Represent an immigrant survivor of family or domestic violence.

Priority Matters - Defensive Asylum

1. F. is a gay cisgender man from Nicaragua. He is also a member of the Miskitu indigenous nation. F. speaks Spanish and Miskito. His merits hearing is November 4, 2024.

Deadline: Merits hearing on 11/4/2024

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+, Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: Immigration Court

Languages: Other, Spanish

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Nicaragua

Client's Story

F. experienced violence and abuse his entire life for being gay. His adoptive father physically abused him so severely and F. felt so ostracized that he tried to kill himself. F. also faced regular abuse and homophobia by neighbors and strangers alike because he is gay. F. started an organization doing sex education and HIV prevention, and became well-known as an LGBTQ activist in his community. One evening, F. was violently attacked and called homophobic slurs by a group of men. F. reported the attack to the police, but his attackers threatened him throughout the process and did not believe the police would further protect him from his attackers.

Unable to live safely in Nicaragua, F. fled to Panama, where he received a temporary residence permit. However, F. was subject to homophobic attacks and was frequently called slurs for his ethnicity and nationality. When F. received death threats over text message, he feared for his life and returned to Nicaragua. Upon return, government officials interrogated F. about his LGBTQ+ activism and time in Panama. F. feared he would be arrested and tortured if he remained in Nicaragua as a gay, indigenous, LGBTQ+ activist, so he fled to the United States.

Important Client Context

F.'s asylum application was timely filed pro se with the immigration court. All affidavits and supporting materials for F. are due 15 days prior to his individual merits hearing on November 4, 2024.

2. L. is a bisexual cisgender man from Togo. He speaks French and lives in Chicago. L. timely filed his asylum application, and his merits hearing is set for February 20, 2025.

Deadline: Merits hearing on 2/10/2025

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+

Venue: Immigration Court

Languages: French, Other

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Togo

Client's Story

L. realized that he is bisexual as a teenager. In 2020, L.'s relationship with his male partner was discovered when he took his phone to be repaired, and the technician found photos of L. and his partner together. Not long after, L.'s brother and some neighbors surprised L. and his partner while they were being intimate. The brother and neighbors had the photos from L.'s phone and beat L. and his partner. L.'s mother intervened to help him escape, and L. fled Togo soon after.

Important Client Context

All affidavits and supporting documents for L.'s case will be due 15 days prior to his individual merits hearing. His hearing is scheduled to be held remotely, over WebEx.

3. M. is a man from Ecuador. His merits hearing is on February 24, 2025. M. speaks Spanish and lives in Chicago.

Deadline: Merits hearing on 2/24/2025

Asylum Categories: Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: Immigration Court

Language: Spanish

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Ecuador

Client's Story

M. owned a small business in Ecuador where people could pay to use computers and printers. His shop was located near the local market where corrupt police officers frequently extorted vendors. Around August 2018, two officers left behind a flash drive after using computers in M.'s store. After they left, M. opened the flash drive and discovered evidence that they were overcharging market vendors. When the officers came back to retrieve the flash drive, they warned M. that he would have problems if he had looked at the contents of the flash drive and spoke out against them. Afterwards, M. began to receive threats from the police and a gang affiliated with the police. Around January 2019, gang members kidnapped M. and took him to a remote location where they beat and robbed him. After this incident, M. fled the country. People continued to look for him at his shop and threatened to harm his girlfriend and daughter, which led them to flee as well.

Important Client Context

NIJC filed M.'s asylum application with the immigration court in April 2021. Because his application was filed more than one year after he entered the United States, M.'s pro bono attorneys will need to argue that he merits an exception to the one-year filing deadline. NIJC will assist them in making this argument. All affidavits and supporting materials to M.'s case will be due 15 days prior to his individual merits hearing on February 24, 2025.

4. X. is a gay cisgender man from El Salvador. His merits hearing is on February 26, 2025. X. speaks Spanish and lives in Chicago. (19-0139973)

Deadline: Merits hearing on 2/26/2025

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+

Venue: Immigration Court

Language: Spanish

Location: IL

Country of Origin: El Salvador

Client's Story

While growing up in El Salvador, X.'s family and friends verbally abused him because they perceived him as feminine. As an adult, gang members broke into X.'s home, beat him and threatened him because he is gay. X. fears that if he is forced to return to El Salvador, he will be tortured or killed by the gang that harmed him in the past and other anti-LGBTQ people.

Important Client Context

NIJC timely filed X.'s asylum application. All affidavits and supporting documents for X.'s case will be due 15 days prior to his merits hearing, which is on February 26, 2025 via WebEx.

5. R. is a man from Nicaragua. His individual merits hearing is on March 27, 2025. R. speaks Spanish and lives in northeastern Wisconsin.

Deadline: Merits hearing on 3/27/2025

Asylum Categories: Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: Immigration Court

Language: Spanish

Location: WI

Country of Origin: Nicaragua

Client's Story

During 2018, R. helped protestors that were part of an anti-government march by providing them with food and water. Law enforcement noticed R. and concluded he was anti-government. Consequently, pro-government Sandinista forces attacked, detained, and threatened R. The Sandinistas also threatened R.'s parents. R.'s cousin encouraged R. to flee the country for his safety; shortly after R. fled, the Sandinistas murdered R.'s cousin. R. entered the United States in July 2021.

Important Client Context

Because his application was filed more than one year after he entered the United States, R. may only be eligible for withholding of removal. All affidavits and supporting materials to R.'s case will be due 15 days prior to his individual merits hearing, which is scheduled for March 27, 2025.

6. M. is a gay cisgender man living with HIV from Venezuela. M. speaks Spanish and lives in Chicago. His merits hearing is scheduled for April 17, 2025.

Deadline: Merits hearing on 4/17/2025

Asylum Categories: Domestic and Gender Violence, LGBTQ+, Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: Immigration Court

Language: Spanish

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Venezuela

Client's Story

As a child, neighbors called M. homophobic slurs, and peers beat M. because of his sexual orientation. M.'s ex-boyfriend abused him and threatened him with a knife. M. did not feel safe reporting his ex-boyfriend to the Venezuelan police because police are homophobic and do not protect gay men. Fearing for his life, M. fled to Peru in 2018. However, M.'s ex-boyfriend followed him to Peru, stalked him, threatened him, and attempted to poison him. In Peru, M. also tested positive for HIV. M. fears he will be denied access to healthcare and will be targeted for his HIV status if he is forced to return to Venezuela. M. also fears the Venezuelan government will label him as an enemy of the State for leaving the country without permission.

Important Client Context

M.'s asylum application was timely filed with the immigration court on August 4, 2023. His individual hearing is scheduled for April 17, 2025 at the Chicago Immigration Court. All affidavits and supporting materials will be due 15 days prior to his merits hearing.

7. G. is a young woman from Honduras. Her son, P., is a derivative on her asylum application. Their merits hearing is on April 25, 2025. G. and P. speak Spanish and live in Northcentral Indiana.

Deadline: Merits hearing on 4/25/2025

Asylum Categories: Domestic and Gender Violence

Venue: Immigration Court

Language: Spanish

Location: IN

Country of Origin: Honduras

Client's Story

G. met, T., around 2018 and moved in with him. T. controlled G.'s actions throughout their relationship, dictating what she wore and locking her in the house. He abused her physically and emotionally. Around 2019, G. gave birth to T.'s son, P. G. and P. escaped from T. in 2020, but T. broke into the house where G. was living and forcibly took P. from her, demanding that G. return to his house. With help from family members, G. recovered P. and they moved to a different town in Honduras to hide from T. G. began a relationship with another man, but feared that T. would never allow her to be free of him. She feared that T. would take P. from her again. In the winter of 2021, G. and P. fled Honduras and arrived in the United States.

Important Client Context

NIJC timely filed their applications for asylum. All affidavits and supporting materials will be due 15 days prior to their individual merits hearing, which is scheduled for April 25, 2025.

8. J. is a woman from Ecuador. Her daughter, S. is a derivative on her application for asylum and is also independently eligible. Their merits hearing is on May 12, 2025. J. and S. speak Spanish and live in Chicago.

Deadline: Merits hearing on 5/12/2025

Asylum Categories: Domestic and Gender Violence, LGBTQ+

Venue: Immigration Court

Language: English

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Ecuador

Client's Story

When J. was a young woman, she met her first partner and the father of her first two children. He abused her for several years until they separated. She made multiple reports against him. A few years later, J. met the father of her third child, S. He also severely abused J. throughout their relationship. She finally separated from him after several years, but he continued to threaten her. J. then entered a relationship with a woman. She and her partner faced discrimination, harassment and threats for being together. J.'s second partner often called to threaten her, insult her, and even found her and beat her up again. J. and her partner received a letter at their home calling them lesbians and telling them they were going to be killed. They fled to the United States with J.'s daughter, S., as soon as they had the money to do so. J. and S. arrived in the United States in July of 2021.

Important Client Context

NIJC timely filed J. and S.'s asylum applications with USCIS. All affidavits and supporting materials will be due 15 days prior to their individual merits hearing, which is scheduled for May 12, 2025.

9. J. is a woman from Honduras. Her son, N., is a derivative on her asylum application and is also independently eligible for asylum. Their merits hearing is on June 4, 2025. They speak Spanish and live in Indianapolis.

Deadline: Merits hearing on 6/4/2025

Asylum Categories: Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: Immigration Court

Language: Spanish

Location: IN

Country of Origin: Honduras

Client's Story

As a child, J. lived with an aunt and uncle. Her uncle molested her, and her aunt verbally abused her and forced her to work. One night in 2019, an armed man stopped J. while she was walking home and sexually assaulted her in a cemetery. J. believes her attacker was affiliated with a gang. J. became pregnant from the assault and fled because she feared that her rapist would come after her if he learned about the pregnancy.

Important Client Context

J. filed her asylum application in December 2020. Since this application was filed more than one year after J. entered the United States, her pro bono attorneys will need to argue that she merits an exception to the one-year filing deadline for asylum eligibility. NIJC will assist in making this argument. All affidavits and supporting materials to J.'s case will be due 15 days prior to her individual merits hearing on June 4, 2025.

10. P. is a man from Angola. His wife Q., and children, R., S., T., U., and V. are all derivatives on his application for asylum. P., Q., R., S., U., and V.'s merits hearing is on June 24, 2025. USCIS has jurisdiction over T.'s case; she is awaiting her asylum interview date. P. and his family speak Portuguese and live on the Southside of Chicago.

Deadline: Merits hearing on 6/24/2025

Asylum Categories: Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: Immigration Court

Language: Portuguese

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Angola

Client's Story

P. was a teacher. As a government worker, he was expected to support the government in power, "the People's Movement for the Liberation of Angola" (the MPLA). P. refused to participate in pro government marches and offer his support to the MPLA. P.'s wife, Q., occasionally showed support for the government's opposition and participated in anti-government marches. During one of these marches, security guards saw Q. and identified her as part of the opposition party. Soon after, P. and his family began to receive threatening phone calls in which they were accused of being traitors. P. believes that the MPLA was targeting them as anti-government. Over the next few months, P. was kidnapped, beaten, threatened with death, and persecuted. His wife and children were also victims of attempted harm including threats and attempted kidnapping. The family reported multiple instances of harm to the police, but they never received any protection. In September 2022, men on motorcycles followed and shot at P. and the children. Soon after, they obtained tourist visas to Brazil and fled Angola. From Brazil, they made their way north and entered the United States in February 2023.

Important Client Context

NIJC timely filed P., Q., R., S., U., and V.'s applications for asylum with the immigration court, and P.'s children are listed as derivatives on his application. All affidavits and supporting materials to their case will be due 15 days prior to their individual merits hearing on June 24, 2025. NIJC timely filed T.'s application for asylum with USCIS. All supporting materials for T.'s case will be due one week prior to her asylum interview. If P. is granted asylum before his daughter receives an interview, he will be able to file an asylee relative petition for her.

11. P. is a lesbian cisgender woman from Benin. She speaks French and lives in Chicago. Her merits hearing is on July 25, 2025.

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+

Venue: Immigration Court

Location: IL

Languages: French, Farsi

Country of Origin: Benin

Client's Story

P. understood that she was attracted to other women during her teenage years, but was too afraid members of her family or community would harm her and was not open about her sexual orientation. However, someone leaked photos of P. and her girlfriend around 2020 and members of P.'s community threatened and verbally abused her. In late 2020, members of P.'s church followed her to her family's home and told my father they needed to exorcize her to rid her of her attraction to women. They beat P. and locked her in a room in the house. P.'s mother helped her escape and P. fled to Togo and then Brazil. P. stayed in Brazil for 11 months until members of her church continued to threaten her, saying they knew where she lived. P. fled to the United States in January 2022.

Important Client Context

NIJC timely filed P.'s I-589. Pro bono counsel should be prepared to argue that P. was not firmly resettled in Brazil as she never received lawful status there. All affidavits and supporting materials will be due 15 days prior to P.'s merits hearing, which is set for July 25, 2025.

12. X. is a bisexual cisgender man from Benin. He speaks French and lives in Chicago. His master calendar hearing is scheduled for February 25, 2025.

Deadline: Master calendar hearing on 6/27/2024

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+

Venue: Immigration Court

Location: IL

Language: French

Country of Origin: Benin

Client's Story

When X.'s extended family found him with a male partner, they chased him, threw stones at him, and beat him. They took him several times to a voodoo priest to “cure” him and X. continued to suffer regular verbal and physical abuse because many people knew about his sexual orientation. Eventually X. understood that he could not continue to live in Benin and be himself. X. left Benin in 2018 and spent approximately two and a half years in Brazil before travelling to the United States.

Important Client Context

X. timely filed an I-589 application. His master calendar hearing is scheduled for February 25, 2025. X. received an ID and work permit in Brazil; although he does not remember filing an asylum application, it is likely that he did and did not realize. Pro bono counsel should be prepared to argue that X. was not firmly resettled or that an exception applies to his resettlement in Brazil.

13. S. is a man from Colombia. His Master Calendar hearing is on July 17, 2024. S. speaks Spanish and lives in a suburb of Indianapolis.

Deadline: Master calendar hearing on 7/17/2024

Asylum Categories: Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: Immigration Court

Language: Spanish

Location: IN

Country of Origin: Colombia

Client’s Story

S. was known as a community leader because of his work helping young men in his neighborhood stay away from drugs and violence. He collected money and used it to share food with local youth. Members of La Cordillera armed group targeted and sent death threats to S. for his community work. They attacked S. while on his motorcycle and later kidnapped and physically assaulted him. S. fled to the United States in 2023.

Important Client Context

NIJC timely filed S.’s asylum application with the immigration court. All affidavits and supporting materials for S.’s case will be due 15 days prior to his individual merits hearing, which has not yet been scheduled. Deadline: Master calendar hearing on 7/25/2024

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+, Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: Immigration Court

Language: Spanish

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Guatemala

Client’s Story

M. lived in Guatemala with his wife, who has HIV. M.’s former employer knew that M. was receiving medical treatment to prevent the transmission of HIV from his wife to him. His employer assumed that M. was living with AIDs, publicized this to his co-workers, and stated that M. would transmit HIV to his colleagues. M.’s employer terminated his employment and listed information on a public database stating that M. has a medical condition that prevents him from being able to work so that others will not hire him. M. initiated a civil rights lawsuit against his former employer, after which he began receiving death threats. Separately, M. and his family have been attacked because of his wife's HIV status and because of an assumption that M. is gay.

Important Client Context

M. timely filed his I-589 pro se. All affidavits and supporting materials for M's case will be due 15 days prior to his individual merits hearing, which has not yet been scheduled. Deadline: Master calendar hearing on 9/4/2024

Asylum Categories: Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: Immigration Court

Languages: French, English

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Togo

Client's Story

S. joined the PNP political party in 2017 to protest the lack of democracy in Togo. He became party secretary and mobilized individuals to join PNP protests. In 2018, the police beat S. during a protest and threatened to kill him. The police attempted to drag S. to their vehicle, but other protesters saw this and threw things at the officers. The police let go of S. and he was able to escape. With help from his father, S. fled to another village. He remained in hiding there for two weeks, but continued to receive threats daily via phone. During this time, the police gave S.'s father a summons for S. to go to the police station. S. fled to Brazil and lived there without status for almost two years until he received more threats. He then went to Mexico before entering the United States in 2021.

Client's Story

R. and his brother worked together in construction. The colectivos, pro-government paramilitary groups, oversaw their work and took a portion of all the construction workers' paychecks. They killed R.'s brother when he complained about this policy. R. quit his job, but the colectivos demanded that he return to work, attacked him, and threatened to kill him if he did not obey. R. joined a political opposition group and participated in protests against government corruption. The colectivos' attacks and threats intensified, so R. and S. fled to Chile. They later returned to Venezuela after they were harmed by the Tren de Aragua gang. R. and S. tried to relocate within Venezuela, but the colectivos found them again. The attacks and the threats continued to escalate, and R. and S. fled to the United States. S. also experienced persecution for her political opinion prior to R.'s problems with the colectivos. Police threatened her and her family while holding her in detention for her participation in a university student protest.

Important Client Context

R. and S.'s asylum applications must be filed by October 1, 2024. Pro bono attorneys should request to consolidate their cases in immigration court. Client's Story

From a young age, H. faced abuse, harassment and bullying for being more effeminate. His father told H. he "would rather have a dead son than a gay son." H. learned to hide his sexual orientation out of fear. As an adult, H. was fired from his government job after his boss found out H. is gay. H. also believes he was fired because he refused to support President Maduro. H. relocated to another part of Venezuela out of fear of political retaliation and other government sponsored violence. However, outside of the capital, he felt even more fear of being outed, attacked, and even killed because of his sexual orientation and political opinion.

20. E. is a HIV positive gay cisgender man from Venezuela. He speaks Spanish, and he lives in Chicago, Illinois. His first master calendar hearing is January 6, 2025.

Deadline: Master calendar hearing on 1/6/2025

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+
Venue: Immigration Court
Location: IL

Language: Spanish
Country of Origin: Venezuela

Client's Story

E. has hidden his sexual orientation from a young age out of fear of homophobic violence. He was fired from his government job after he refused to participate in marches supporting President Maduro. He ultimately fled Venezuela after he was he was denied medical treatment in August 2022 because of his HIV status. E. felt he had no recourse because if he sought legal action, more people would know his HIV status, which he feared would lead to losing his job and facing further discrimination and violence.

Important Client Context

E.'s asylum application was timely filed on August 11, 2023. All affidavits and supporting materials for E. will be due 15 days prior to his individual merits hearing. If client and pro bono counsel agree, counsel can file a motion to set the case for merits.

21. L. is a lesbian cisgender woman from Colombia. She speaks Spanish and lives in Chicago. Her first master calendar hearing is on January 16, 2025.

Deadline: Master calendar hearing on 1/16/2025

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+

Venue: Immigration Court

Location: IL

Language: Spanish

Country of Origin: Colombia

Client's Story

L. faced violence and discrimination for dressing and acting in ways considered masculine. She was sent to the school psychologist to cure her "gay tendencies." When she came out to her mother, her mother rejected L. and beat her. A group of men then drugged, kidnapped, and raped L. because she dressed like a lesbian. Years later, a different group of men tried to grab and attack L. and a friend to "teach them how to be women." L. and her friend ran to the police, but the police refused to help them.

Important Client Context

Since 2017, L. mostly lived outside of Colombia because she could not tolerate the homophobia. She spent several years in Brazil and briefly lived in Chile and Ecuador, but she did not request or have legal status or a work permit in any of these countries. Pro bono counsel will need to argue, with NIJC's support, that L. was not firmly resettled in any of these countries. L.'s asylum application was timely filed with the Chicago Immigration Court on July 10, 2023. When her merits hearing is set, all affidavits and supporting materials will be due 15 days prior. Pro bono counsel may request a merits date at the scheduled master calendar hearing or file a motion to set for merits at an earlier date.

Deadline: Merits hearing on 7/23/2025

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+

Venue: Immigration Court

Language: Spanish

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Guatemala

Client's Story

X. fled Guatemala because she could not be open with her sexual orientation or gender identity. As a child, her cousin sexually abused X. Her family later rejected her after she came out as gay. As an adult, She suffered another sexual assault and sexual harassment at work, ultimately forcing her to quit her job and return home. At home, her childhood sexual abuser raped her again with a gun to her head. A group of homophobic people beat her so badly that she had to have her appendix removed and surgery on her intestines.

Important Client Context

In 2019, X. timely filed a pro se asylum application in ICE detention. At the time, she was afraid to disclose her trans identity and only shared her sexual orientation. After suffering a sexual assault in detention and disclosing her gender identity, a nonprofit attorney helped her amend her asylum application. Deadline: Master calendar hearing on 8/28/2025

Asylum Categories: Domestic and Gender Violence, Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: Immigration Court, USCIS

Language: Spanish

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Ecuador

Client's Story

H. witnessed a gang engaging in suspicious activity at a neighbor's house. Law enforcement arrived shortly after, leading the gang to assume that H. reported them to the police. Following this incident, the gang terrorized the family on numerous occasions by extorting them, attacking them, and assaulting the two eldest children. The family also suspects that the gang murdered R.'s nephew by staging a fatal car accident in which he was killed. C. suffered domestic abuse at the hands of her former partner who had ties to the same gang that targeted the rest of the family. The second eldest child has an additional claim based on a sexual assault that the gang committed against her.

Important Client Context

NIJC filed asylum applications on the family's behalf. The four youngest children are listed as derivatives on R.'s and H.'s applications, and R. and H. are also listed as each other's derivatives. All family members also filed individual asylum applications. Because their applications were filed more than one year after they entered the United States, pro bono attorneys will need to argue that the family merits an exception to the one-year filing deadline. NIJC will assist them in making this argument. Client's Story

Around 2020, guerrilla militants barged into U.'s family's home and sexually assaulted him, forcing him to perform oral sex and anally penetrating him while making homophobic comments to him. U. attempted to hide his sexual orientation out of fear of violence. However, in March 2023, three men drugged and kidnapped U., called him homophobic slurs, and took turns raping him. U. tried to report this to the police after the men released him, but the police laughed in his face and refused to take down the report. When U. started receiving death threats from his kidnappers, where they said they knew U. attempted to report them to the police, U. fled to the United States.

Important Client Context

U.'s asylum application was timely filed with the immigration court. All affidavits and supporting materials for U. are due 15 days prior to his individual merits hearing on November 19, 2026.

If U. is granted asylum, U. would like to petition for his son, who remains in Colombia.

42. D. is a gay cisgender man from Ghana. He speaks Twi and English and lives in Chicago. He is scheduled for a master calendar hearing on December 12, 2024.

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+

Venue: Immigration Court

Location: IL

Languages: Twi, English

Country of Origin: Ghana

Client's Story

D. began to question his sexual orientation and entered into a relationship with a business owner in his community. They dated for about seven years but were not open about their relationship. Around April 2021, they started to be more affectionate with each other in public. A few month's later, D.'s sibling walked in on D. and his partner being intimate together. Word spread about D. and O.'s relationship. A group of men broke into their home and attacked them. D. was afraid to report the attack to the police for fear he would be arrested because same sex intercourse is criminalized in Ghana.

Important Client Context

D. timely filed for asylum on December 7, 2022. His master calendar hearing is scheduled for December 12, 2024 at the Chicago Immigration Court.

43. V. is a transgender woman from Honduras seeking protection under the Convention Against Torture (CAT). Her case is on remand from the Board of Immigrant Appeals and is venued in Chicago. V. speaks Spanish.

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+

Venue: Immigration Court

Location: LA

Language: Spanish

Country of Origin: Honduras

Client's Story

V. suffered severe physical and emotional abuse in Honduras because of her gender identity from both family members and strangers. V. first fled Honduras in 1994 and entered the United States as an unaccompanied minor. As there were no protections for unaccompanied minors at that time, V. was ordered removed without an opportunity to speak to an attorney. Alone and vulnerable, V. then ended up in a trafficking situation, which led to a drug-related conviction and eventually V.'s deportation in 2019. Fearing for her life, V. fled Honduras again as soon as she could. When V. re-entered the United States in 2019, she was detained in federal custody and charged with illegal re-entry. After serving her sentence in federal custody, she was transferred to ICE custody in rural Louisiana in March 2022. Unable to secure representation, V. proceeded pro se before the Immigration Judge, who denied all relief.

Important Client Context

NIJC represented her on appeal to the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA). The Board reversed and remanded V.'s case, however, the same IJ denied all relief a second time. NIJC again represented V. on appeal to the BIA. The BIA reversed and remanded V.'s case a second time. In May, V. was granted bond; she was released from DHS custody.

Although V. currently lives in supportive housing in New Orleans, Louisiana, her case is venued with the Chicago Immigration Court to allow NIJC and its pro bono partners to continue representing her in her proceedings. V. currently has no future hearing date. V. is willing to travel to Chicago for her merits hearing.

44. B. is a lesbian cisgender women from Venezuela. She speaks Spanish and lives in Chicago. Her asylum application was timely filed, and she is now awaiting an interview with the Chicago Asylum Office.

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+, Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: USCIS

Location: IL

Language: Spanish

Country of Origin: Venezuela

Client's Story

B. knew she was a lesbian from a young age but always felt she had to keep her sexual orientation a secret. Her peers in school bullied her, calling her anti-LGBTQ slurs. Around 2017, B. attended protests against the Maduro government. She was arrested and detained for around six months for her participation but no formal charges were brought against her. After she was released, she received death threats over text message for her anti-Maduro political opinion. B. attempted to relocate for safety and moved back and forth between her sister's house in Colombia and her father's house in another state of Venezuela. In Colombia, she began dating K. K. is also seeking asylum but has a separate case. When B.'s father found out she was dating a woman, he sent her nasty messages and disowned her. B. and K. experienced discrimination in Colombia because they are a lesbian couple.

Important Client Context

B. and K. entered the United States together in December 2022 and timely filed for asylum with USCIS. Although B. and K. have separate claims, their cases would ideally be accepted together. B. has a tender-age daughter she included as a derivative on her asylum application.

45. D. is a gay cisgender man from Nigeria. He speaks English and lives in Northeast Indiana. His asylum application was timely filed, and he is now awaiting an asylum interview.

Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+

Venue: USCIS

Language: English

Location: IN

Country of Origin: Nigeria

Client's Story

Shortly after D. was forced into an arranged marriage, his wife caught him being intimate with a man. D. feared for his life, as LGBTQ relationships are criminalized in all of Nigeria. While D.'s wife did not tell others of his sexual orientation, he was later outed by an ex-partner. Since then, he has received numerous threats and had a police report filed against him for being LGBTQ.

Important Client Context

D. entered the United States in July 2023 on an F1 student visa and is currently taking courses at a community college. NIJC timely filed his asylum application on December 21, 2023, and he is awaiting an interview with the Chicago Asylum Office. Affidavits and other supporting documents will be due approximately one week prior to his interview at the asylum office. Because interview timing can vary, NIJC recommends pro bono counsel plan to work up this case within 12 weeks of case acceptance.

Asylum Categories: Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: USCIS

Language: Spanish

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Colombia

Client's Story

D. was a high-ranking police officer in Colombia. In 2015, the state transferred D. to a different district. He began to work with the Local Branch of the Judicial and Investigative Police (SIJIN) to help identify and capture individuals who were involved in micro trafficking. In 2018, the court called D. to testify as a witness in a hearing against accused micro traffickers. About a month after the hearing, D. noticed individuals on motorcycles watching and following him after work. In early 2020, D. stopped doing operational fieldwork and transferred to an administrative position after a serious car accident left him with physical impairments. Although D. was in a new position, W. and B. noticed men on motorcycles frequently watching their house. Unknown, suspicious individuals began to approach D. in public and ask him personal questions including about his past employment. Later that year, D. learned that a number of police officer's home addresses, including his own, had been shared in a group chat that included numerous micro trafficking affiliates. Around late 2021 or early 2022, D. and his family received a threatening note at their house. D. reported the harassment and threats to the police, but nothing came of it. D. and his family stopped leaving their house unless necessary. In spring 2023, they fled to the United States on tourist visas.

Important Client Context

NIJC timely filed D., W., P., F., and B. 's individual asylum applications with USCIS. Affidavits and other supporting documents will be due one week prior to the family's interview(s) at the asylum office. Because interview timing can vary, pro bono counsel should plan to work up this case within 12-16 weeks of case acceptance.

Asylum Categories: Domestic and Gender Violence

Venue: USCIS

Language: Spanish

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Honduras

Client's Story

J. lived with her partner, Z., and their son, R. Z. physically and verbally abused J. after he heard that another man touched her. J. was hospitalized as a result of the abuse. After this happened, J. told her parents of the harm. J. and R. left to live with J.'s parents, but Z. found her and threatened to harm J. and her parents if they went to the police. Fearing for their safety, J. began living with Z. again, and he continued to abuse her. Sometime after this, J. gave birth to A. Several years later, J. left Z. He retaliated by taking R. and A. He kept them for months and did not allow J. to see or contact her children during this time. R. and A. eventually escaped and returned to J. In 2019, J. fled the country, but Mexican immigration officials deported her back to Honduras. She had become pregnant on her journey and gave birth to her youngest daughter, W., in Honduras. J. and her children lived with J.'s parents because she received death threats from Z. In 2021, J. fled Honduras with W. to escape Z. About six months later, R. and A. traveled to the United States separately in order to join them.

Important Client Context

NIJC filed J.'s asylum application with her children as derivatives with USCIS in November 2023. Because the application was filed more than one year after the J.'s arrival, the family's case may be referred to the immigration court. Pro bono attorneys will need to argue that they meet an exception to the one-year filing deadline. NIJC will assist them in making this argument. All supporting materials will be due one week prior to the asylum interview. Because interview timing can vary, pro bono counsel should plan to work up this case within 12-16 weeks of placement.

Asylum Categories: Domestic and Gender Violence, LGBTQ+, Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: USCIS

Languages: Spanish, Portuguese

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Venezuela

Client's Story

Beginning at a very young age, K. suffered multiple instances of rape and sexual abuse throughout her life. Her family often kicked her out of the house as a child because she is a lesbian. Her brother threatened K. at gunpoint. The father of K.'s daughter physically, sexually, and verbally abused her. K. tried to get a protective order against him, but it was not enforced. He began custody proceedings against K., during which he outed K. as a lesbian and the judge granted sole custody of their daughter to the father.

Around 2017, K. became politically active through her support of Capriles, an opposition party to the Maduro government. She organized people online, worked on voting campaigns, and attended protests. She also went to Gay Pride marches. The Venezuelan police detained her twice for her activism. While she was detained, the police said they would make her and her lesbian partner-at-the-time straight and teach them "how to be women." No official charges were filed against K. But after she was released the second time, Venezuelan officials came looking for K. to arrest her again.

K. fled to Colombia around 2018. K. obtained legal residence in Colombia. In Colombia, she met her new partner, B. B. is also seeking asylum but has a separate case. K. and B. did not feel safe as lesbian women and experienced housing and job discrimination because of their sexual orientations.

Important Client Context

K. and B. entered the United States together in December 2022 and timely filed for asylum before USCIS. Although K. and B.'s claims are separate, their cases would ideally be accepted together.

49. M. is a woman from Nicaragua awaiting an asylum interview. She speaks Spanish and lives in Chicago.

Asylum Categories: Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: USCIS

Language: Spanish

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Nicaragua

Client's Story

M. began attending anti-government protests frequently in 2018. Police often followed and harassed her for her political activism. In late 2019, police arrested M. for her connections with a prominent activist and held her in prison for about a week. During this time, police subjected her to routine interrogations in which they beat and sexually assaulted and her. M. still suffers from the permanent injuries that she sustained during this time. The government released M. on the condition that she provide a false testimony in trial against another activist. She refused to comply, and in early 2021, the government falsified drugs and arms trafficking charges against M.

in order to arrest her again. Police kept M. jailed and drugged for nearly two weeks before transferring her to a penitentiary. M.'s mother contacted a civil rights attorney to defend her, but though the accusations were false and the government never produced hard evidence, a judge sentenced M. to 18 years in prison. Prison officials denied M. medical treatment and prescription medication. They forced her to spend one year in solitary confinement. After two years as a political prisoner, the Nicaraguan government exiled M. in February 2023 and sent her to the United States.

Important Client Context

NIJC timely filed M.'s affirmative asylum application. All supporting materials will be due one week prior to the asylum interview. Because interview timing can vary, pro bono counsel should plan to work up this case within 12-16 weeks of placement.

Asylum Categories: Political Opinion, Religious Beliefs

Venue: USCIS

Language: Spanish

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Honduras

Client's Story

R. was a university student in Honduras. He and his family lived in an area with frequent gang activity. The gang in their neighborhood wanted R. to sell drugs at the university. After he refused, the gang attacked R. and threatened him. R. stopped attending school, but the gang continued to pressure him to sell drugs at the university. R. started working as a mototaxi driver; the same gang charged renta to the drivers. R. shared a mototaxi with another man, and together they refused to pay the renta. One day, gang members attacked R. and his coworker, stole the mototaxi, and killed R.'s coworker in front of R. That day, R. went into hiding in another area. Gang members looked for R. at his house and his mom's house. They threatened to kill R. and his spouse for not paying the renta. R. and his family fled Honduras to claim asylum in the United States.

Important Client Context

NIJC helped R., S., and C. file their asylum applications with USCIS in May 2024. R., S., and C. did not file within the one-year deadline, but they may be eligible for an exception due to ineffective assistance of counsel, as a person claiming to be an attorney defrauded the family prior to them contacting NIJC. Asylum Categories: LGBTQ+

Venue:

Language: French

Location: IL

Country of Origin: Senegal

Client's Story

V. is a member of the minority ethnicity Soninke and grew up in a very religious and traditional family. After having a short relationship with another boy as a teenager, he tried to convince himself to not be gay because he had been told same sex relationships are wrong, and he was afraid of being harmed if people discovered his attraction to men. When he was in his 20s, he dated a man, but V.'s father caught them together and beat and stabbed V. He stopped only when V.'s mother intervened. She took V. to the emergency room. About a year or so later, V.'s father forced him to marry a woman. When they did not have a child together after several years, V.'s father tortured him. V. eventually moved into an apartment with a gay friend. One night, they came home and found the apartment had been broken into. Someone chased them down the street shouting that they are gay. V.'s mother warned him that his father was looking for him and instigated the attack. V. fled to the United States.

Important Client Context

V. timely filed his asylum application in April 2023. Affidavits and other supporting documents will be due one week prior to his interview at the asylum office. Because interview timing can vary, NIJC recommends pro bono counsel plan to work up this case within about 12 weeks of case acceptance.
